Excursion Train Arrived Here Sunday

Straight out of the golden age of railroading in America, the N & W "Train Master" shown above rolled into Appomattox Station on Sunday, November 4th, with 548 paid passengers getting off to enjoy the festivities of the first annual Appomattox Railroad Festival. The train scheduled to arrive here at 2:15 p.m. rolled on in 30 minutes ahead of its schedule thus allowing the passengers an extra 30 minutes to visit with the folks here.

With an estimated crowd of 5,000, the people viewed arts and crafts, displays of old confederate money, antiques, many other interesting things too numerous to name, and witnessed the dedication of the "depot" to the Town of Appomattox from the Norfolk & Western Railroad. There were 620 passengers aboard when the excursion train left Appomattox.

We think that the two-day Railroad Festival was one of the best things to happen in downtown Appomattox ever and if you are of the same opinion please contact your Town Council members and express your desire to ...xe this an annual event.

Cactus Joe Choo Choo Creates Excitement For Children

Cactus Joe manuvering his Choo Choo up and down, round and round on Main Street in downtown Appomattox on Saturday and Sunday at the 1st Annual Appomattox Railroad Festival was the big attraction for the children – and many adults also enjoyed a ride on the little train.

There was a continuous line awaiting turns to get on the Choo Choo and it was estimated that over 2500 children plus the adults got to ride on this exciting Cactus Joe Choo Choo. Don't think Cactus Joe even was able to take time out to eat during the time he was in Appomattox...just couldn't seem to keep the children waiting for their rides. At times he was forced to slow down or even until the crowds of people got off his "track".

Riding Tournament in Virginia

In 1821 a tournament was held at Mt. Solon, Virginia to decide which of two young men should have a certain damsel for his wife. This event has been run continuously each August ever since!

Elsewhere in the nation the sport continues under different names and varying field rules. But whether it be in Oregon, Colorado, Louisiana, West Virginia, Maryland (where it became the official state sport in 1962), or Virginia the basics are essentially the same.

At the command "Charge, Sir Knight" the rider, lance in hand, will gallop his horse in a straight line down the eighty yard course and attempt to spear each of the three rings suspended from poles spaced equidistant along the way. Sizes of the rings used begin with one and one-half inch in diameter and descend to one quarter inch as the competition mounts. The rider's lance is seven feet long and may be home-made, custom crafted or handed down from father to son. His tunic or sash is emblematic of the knights of old who carried into the joust a scarf or handkerchief of his "ladye faire."

Today, in Virginia as elsewhere, "tournament riding" is enjoying a ...e in popularity with young and old, male and female, alike.

If sufficient support is shown in this area we are planning to hold a tournament here in Appomattox. Any seeking further information, contact F. D. O'Brien.

Stevens - In loving memory of our dear father and uncle, General J. Stevens, who departed this life November 9, 1960. Your memories will linger in our hearts for ever. The years that have gone by have helped us to realize that our loss was heaven's gain.

In loving memory of Hubert Pankey who passed on Nov. 14, 1968.

God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb;
He gently closed his loving eyes
And whispered "Peace be Thine."
His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past;
His patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last
